OSAKA COLLECTION

Just as the Japanese culture has a rich appreciation of ceramics, we at Jenggala enjoy a deep appreciation for Japanese food. Gaining popularity world-wide Japanese cuisine is truly an art form as dishes are created to capture a feeling, the nuance of a season and the true essence of the ingredients. Although today often fused with other regional menus, the Japanese food characteristics are easily recognized for their simple composition and beauty.

In Jenggala's Osaka Collection we designed a rustic palette to present the many forms of the cooking of The Land of the Rising Sun. Some plates shaped and sized for particular dishes, while others come versatile for many tasty creations. Based on the traditional ceramics produced in some regions of Japan, the Osaka collection still shows the work done by hands and glazed in a leaf green gloss blending with a dark burnished effect. Also available in a bright red glaze contrasting with the dark burnished brown edges.
